Red Cat Announces Multiyear Partnership with Washington Commanders to Support America's Military Community

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 10, 2026 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Red Cat Holdings, Inc. (Nasdaq: RCAT) ("Red Cat" or the "Company"), a U.S.-based provider of advanced all-domain drone and robotic solutions for defense and national security, today announced a multiyear partnership with the Washington Commanders to support U.S. service members, veterans, and their families.

As a Proud Partner of the Washington Commanders, Red Cat and the team are working together on military appreciation initiatives, including community events, fan experiences, and recognition programs that honor service members, veterans, and military families throughout the season.

The partnership reflects both organizations' commitments to supporting those who serve and highlights Red Cat's mission to strengthen American leadership in autonomous systems. Through its Family of Systems, Red Cat develops secure, American made drone technologies that provide critical intelligence and situational awareness to the U.S. military and allied forces.

"Red Cat is focused on building the next generation of autonomous systems for the men and women who defend our country," said Jeff Thompson, Founder and Chief Executive Officer of Red Cat. "Our partnership with the Washington Commanders extends that mission beyond the battlefield by recognizing the service and sacrifice of our military community. We are honored to work alongside an organization that shares our commitment to giving back to those who have given so much."

Throughout the upcoming NFL season, Red Cat will launch a comprehensive marketing campaign across one of the country's largest media markets. The partnership will include in-stadium branding and digital signage at Northwest Stadium, military appreciation programming, community initiatives, game day activations, and digital content that highlights Red Cat's commitment to those who serve.

"The Washington Commanders are proud to partner with Red Cat to celebrate the military community and the values of service, leadership, and innovation," said Jim Rushton, Chief Partnerships Officer of the Washington Commanders. "Together, we look forward to creating meaningful experiences that recognize our service members while engaging fans throughout the season."

About the Washington Commanders

The Washington Commanders, owned by a group led by Managing Partner Josh Harris, were founded in 1932 and are one of the original members of the NFL's Eastern Division. The team – which plays its home games at Northwest Stadium in Landover, MD and trains at the BigBear.ai Performance Center at Commanders Park in Ashburn, Va. – has won five World Championship titles, including Super Bowls XVII, XXII, and XXVI. The franchise's storied history has 22 members of the Pro Football Hall of Fame, including multiple Hall of Fame coaches and some of the game's most accomplished players. The Commanders organization prides itself on positively impacting the DMV through the powerful platform of football, working with numerous community groups, charities, and veteran-focused causes each year. Through the Washington Commanders Foundation, the organization provides support and services to more than 179,000 individuals annually, with a focus on children's education, health, and wellness.
